Re: Policy to refrain from accepting gifts, gifts or other benefits during festivals

The Cabinet Resolution of 7 January 1997 held that junior civil servants should refrain from giving gifts to senior civil servants. Supervisors or family members of senior civil servants to reinforce values to be economical and create the right attitude. It also supervises the subordinate officials to behave in relation to giving or accepting gifts, gifts, or other benefits in accordance with relevant laws and regulations.

On the occasion of past major festivals Civil servants often provide gifts to senior civil servants or superiors. This creates the wrong attitude. He is also a contributor to misconduct in the civil service. Nong Ruea Subdistrict Administration therefore promotes measures to prevent corruption and misconduct in the public sector by creating economical values in accordance with the philosophy of Sufficiency Economy. To prevent corruption and misconduct in another government facility. as follows

Article 1 In case of wishing to express congratulations or good wishes on various festivals, the use of greeting cards or greetings through online media should be encouraged instead of giving gifts, gifts or other benefits, except for items for publicity of the operation of the agency according to the occasion and appropriate, such as greeting cards, calendars, diaries, notebooks, etc.

Article 2 Solicitation among public servants or use of any public welfare funds for the provision of gifts shall be strictly prohibited.

Therefore, it is announced and strictly observed.
